TEACHERS AND COSMETICS

School trustees of Burnaby say they will not employ teachers who use rouge, powder and lipsticks.

This is very unfortunate.
School teachers make many sacrifices for their profession. They exist on starvation salaries. They wrestle with what is perhaps the most obstinate and perverse thing in the world, i.e., the young human mind.

And now, on top of these things, if they want to teach in Burnaby, they will have to make frights of themselves by abjuring the powder-puff.
Someone should tell these trustees that, so long as a young woman can teach children effectively, it doesn't make very much difference if she smears her face with green buggy.

The town, and ways and means to suppress it, instead of removing its source by taking eare that the school children were undefiled.

Mothers Especially

Of course both parents should take an interest in school conditions, but women with their intuition and mother love are peculiarly fitted to go into the little details that make or mar school life. Unjust and prejudiced teachers, hasty explanations, and unmerited punishments, superficial knowledge, restraint of bad habits and petty tyrannies—trifles, perhaps, but it's the little foxes that spoil the vines, and tiny misunderstandings and grudges often make or mar a child's character, while mothers, who take the opportunity to learn the instant and outs of school life, can be arbiters and "guardian angels."

Instead of small groups touring Europe every year or so and rushing from place to place trying to snatch up a few odd crumbs of information, Canadian university students should be registered by the hundreds in every university in the civilized world.

No better machinery for the advance of international understanding could exist than a carefully worked-out student exchange system among the Parent-Teacher Association, which is a long step in the right direction at the Mecca for postgraduate students in British countries. Rev. G. D. Armstrong, who acted as Castmaster for the occasion, stated that the enthuiasm shown in the preparation of the banquet and the hearty response of those invited to attend indicated the very real need which such an event meets in the lives of boys and men.

Stewart with Dr. Kirk, Bert Eckmire and R. Lantinga, and George Stewart with R. Hamilton Claude Tweed and W. G. Andrews made the trip but again Macleod had to take back water to the Aird and McLeod combinations, of Lethbridge. In all probability another challenge will be fought out on Saturday, when it is hoped Macleod will gather the Cadillac Cup to its bosom.

It is sometimes claimed that the church is not interesting itself in young people, but this idea is very far from being true. While a great deal of our social life is in modern times conducted outside of organized church circles—those who partake in these things have received very largely their inspiration from the church. Under present conditions organized religion is unable to give its best to its young people's work. its best to its young people's work. If it were to attempt to directly concern itself with the social life of its young people, it would become a divi-sive rather than a unifying force in

The toast to "Our Sons" was pre-sented by Dr. S. J. Kirk, who spoke briefly of the advantages enjoyed by briefly of the advantages enjoyed by the younger generation. Ernest Rands and Sydney Brooks in response spoke of the responsibility of living clean manly lives. That these two young men have been strongly in-fluenced by the Canadian Standard Efficiency Training Movement for Boys was very evident in both of their addresses.

A. F. Grady, pioneer Sunday School worker and old time citizen, proposed the toast to the town of Macleod." This was responded to by Mayor J. W. "I always pictured myself in some situation, perhaps disabled through an accident, where I might be unable to pay the premiums." But you may now insure against this possibility of future inability to pay your premiums. For a small additional charge the Mutual Life of Canada will issue your policy subject to a clause which provides that in case of total and permanent disability the Company will waive further premiums. That is not all. Upon approval of proofs of disability, the Company will not only waive future premiums, but will pay $10 a month per $1,000 of assurance, so long as total disability continues. And further, if the policyholder should die by accident the Company will pay double the amount of life insurance named in the policy. These new clauses are optional in all old or new Mutual policies if assured be over 15 or under 55 years of age. MUTUAL "The Net Cost Life Insurance Company"
